municated subsequently to Dr. Edmund Gibson, afterwards bishop of London, who incorporated them into his edition of Camden's Britannia. He died March 4, 1719-20, and his burial is thus entered in the register at Aldborough: 'M<sup>r</sup>. Edward Maurice Cl. LL.B. Vicar of Aldborough Forty two years and Eight weeks, and Prebendary of Ripon        years        and was buried the seventh day of March 1719 and in the seventyth year of his age,' so that he would be born about 1649. In a list of vicars entered in one of the registers at Aldborough, his name is thus entered: 'Ult: Decem: 1677 Edv: Maurice L: L: B: e Com: Lincoln: de Ripon Præb: obiit 4<sup>to</sup> Martii 1720.' He may have been the person entered in the Graduati Cantabr. as Edward Marris of Trinity College, who took the single degree of LL.B. in 1683.

THOMAS PERROTT, M.A., collated September 17, 1720, p. m. 1720. Morris (sic). He was the fourth son of Andrew Perrott, Lord Mayor of York in 1693, and grandson of Dr. Richard Perrott, prebendary of York and vicar of Holy Trinity, Kingston-upon-Hull. He was born in York, and was sent first to the grammar school at Wakefield, and afterwards for two years to Beverley. He was admitted a pensioner at Sidney Sussex College, Cambridge, April 14, 1698, at the age of sixteen, and graduated as B.A. in 1701, and as M.A. in 1705. In 1712 he was appointed incumbent curate of Yarm in the North Riding, but resigned that post in 1724, when he went to York. He was appointed to the perpetual curacy of Kirklevington, and held it from 1715 to 1727. Mr. Perrott was father of that eminent and learned Judge, the Hon. George Perrott, one of the barons of the Court of Exchequer, by his wife, Anastatia, daughter of the Rev. George Plaxton, M.A., rector of Barwick in Elmet.

THOMAS RUD or RUDD, M.A., collated July 9, 1728, p. m. 1728. Perrott. He was the eldest son of the Rev. Thomas Rudd, curate of Stockton, afterwards vicar of Norton and rector of Long Newton, all in the county of Durham, by Alice his wife, daughter of Thomas Watson of Stockton. His parents were married at Stockton November 13, 1666, and he was baptised there January 2, 1667-8. He was of Trinity College, Cambridge, and graduated as B.A. in 1687, and as M.A. in 1691. He was appointed master of the grammar school at Durham, which office he resigned in 1699 for the head-mastership of the school at Newcastle-upon-Tyne, but returned to Durham school in 1710.
